MONDAY

A PASTOR SUICIDED.

Monday evening, March 22, about one hundred members and friends of Dodge Avenue M. E. church went in a body to the personage and completely surprised their pastor and his family. The greetings were pleasant and after some remarks by Rev. Wickham, Miller and Spitzer and a delightful social hour the people departed, leaving a well-remembered memory of the kindly feeling existing between pastor and people.

TUESDAY

THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY OPEN MEETING.

At the Unitarian church next Tuesday evening, the Shakespeare department of the Seventeenth Century Club will be at home to the literary public.

Every year this department, under the leadership of Mrs. E. E. Masterson, a literary leader for the members of the club and the friends of Shakespeare. This year, Mr. Henry Wallenstein, a reader of more than local recognition, will read from Hamlet. Mr. Roland Murdock, Jr., will give the musical numbers. It is hoped that an appreciative audience will greet these local artists and meet the members of the Seventeenth Century.

MUSICAL.

An event of more than ordinary interest took place in the First Baptist church on Tuesday evening. Four members of the faculty of the Wichita School of Music gave a high grade musical to a large audience. The house was crowded with people, and the program was of high quality.

Prof. O. P. Harshbarger, manager of this school, recently received Prof. G. W. Stormfels of Pittsburgh, Pa., as concert violinist and teacher of stringed instruments. This recital was given to introduce him to the people of Wichita.

During the evening Prof. Stormfels played in the first number two sections, "Polish Dance," by Scherzke, and "Rondo in G" by Beethoven, and in the second "Valse Music," from De Waltz by Wagner-Brassin. These were difficult selections, but Miss West rendered them with ease to the delight of all.

Each performer merited high praise, which was freely given by the large audience. Their work stamped them artists in their several lines.

AT POND CREEK.

The boys of the Happy Hopper crowd of young folks at Pond Creek entertained the girls in a very unique manner last Monday night and Tuesday morning, the occasion being the boys' turn to entertain.

An invitation and a card with a boy's name on it were placed in an envelope which was sealed and left unopened. For every event an envelope with a boy's name in it was given to the girls. They first met at the home of Harry Vetter, where a sumptuous three course supper was served by Mrs. Vetter. The menu consisted of animal cookies, a glass of water and a toothpick. They all got into a hayrack and were taken to Mofford, where a fine banquet was served at Henderson's cafe, acknowledged to be the finest place of its kind in Grant county.

The girls were then told to change into their home. After a stay of an hour the party started for Pond Creek and when a few miles had been driven the driver asked for information as to "where he was at." This was correctly answered and then he announced for every one to pile out something wrong. The girls lit matches while the boys lifted. This finished another start was made but another break caused more delay. But the journey was ended without serious accident.

The time of the last event is a matter of dispute; some say 4:25 and some 5:00 a. m., but anyway the teachings of "Won't go home till morning" were observed.

A good time was had but another such a not being figured on just yet. The Happy Hoppers were Minnie Fry, Blanche Front, Modena Ayres, Jennie Booth, Lola Deck, Edith Richards, Emma Shaw, Grace Hulen, Ethel Richards, Doris Bligh, Charles Stutz, Harry Vetter, Laura Thomas, Frank Bigger, Earl Myers, Lawrence Brain, Will Ziegler, Clyde Parks, Hugh T. Gault, Ira Boone.

FRIDAY

RECEPTION AT DEACONESS HOME. Friday afternoon a reception was held for the ladies of the Methodist church for the visitors attending the annual conference. Martholde.

The ceremony will take place at 10 o'clock on the morning of April 10, in the Pro-Cathedral. After the ceremony a reception will be held for the relatives of the couple at the home of the bride's mother, 253 North Water street.

RETURN OF TIGHT LACING. To many women it will be excessively startling to learn that the small waist is really coming into fashion again, while others who are slim and become well congratulated themselves upon the fact, as it is for all such unexpected changes.

During the past forty years the circumference of the waist has been allowed to suit the dominant modes many times. And it has always happened, as the observant will admit, that a craze for sloping shoulders and full skirts is responsible for the wasp waist that measures only from eighteen to twenty inches round. Such compelling forces, namely, the full skirt and the sloping shoulders, when there is so much good advertising material lying around loose that could have occupied that space.

Whenever you impress people that you have much money, don't fail to impress your own mind with the fact that there is always someone who has more than you.

A clean man is not to be feared, yet the unclean man always avoids him. Why?

After all, we get nothing on earth that we do not pay for, either in pain, remorse, griefs or tears.

I suggest that the cab drivers be requested to stop their racing along the avenue at least.

Mr. B—— was run into last evening by an unknown man riding a bicycle on the sidewalk. He was badly bruised and had an arm broken at the wrist. The rider did not stop to offer any assistance and is unidentified. The reason he was riding on the sidewalk was on account of the muddy, impassable condition of the streets. At such times they are allowed to ride on the sidewalks, but must dismount when meeting or passing people, when he did after having injured the man.

Why don't the real estate merchants organize themselves into an association, combine their efforts in advertising, put the funds together which they use individually, and their brains together, and evolve a system of advertising and disseminating their literature, and accomplish much more and get the benefit?

A pair of squirrels has about my home and in the attic of the house. The male has learned to take food from our hands and will come whenever he hears the cat. The female was not so tame, but would come near enough to get food thrown to her. I went to one evening this week and learned that the female had been killed by dogs. So, too,

RUSSIA'S GRIP ON MANCHURIA. A French traveler named Chaudron asserts that he has seen a copy of the treaty between China and Russia by which the latter leased the railway rights in Manchuria to the Russian empire nine years. It contains what Mr. Chaudron calls a master clause, which virtually gives Russia absolute possession. The clause provides that if at the end of nine years China desires to enter into possession of the railway line she must refund to the company all the expenses of construction and of the money spent in maintenance from the first. In other words, it is a condition that China can never hope to fulfill.

THURSDAY COOKING CLUB. Mrs. C. G. Cohn entertained the Thursday Cooking club at her home, 123 North Lawrence avenue. The menu, which was in charge of Mrs. Ralph Millison, Mrs. Ben Garland and Mrs. G. C. Purdie, consisted of pressed chicken with mushroom sauce, stuffed baked potatoes, light rolls, Makes Suggestions as to How to Suggest a Wichita.

To the Editor of the Eagle.

Which would you rather do, build a dyke around Griswold Park to keep the water off, and by so doing force the water onto and over the island, down onto the water works company, completely disabling it, or let the water run across the park and wash it out a little?

Now that the Orient road proposition is fixed, I would advise that Wichita take up the southeast railroad proposition to Fort Smith. The southwestern roads offer the products of but two industries, wheat and cattle, with a limited number of inhabitants and towns, while a southeast road will pass through a country that is unsurpassed in fertility. It will grow anything that grows in a tropical country and many things, in parts of it, that grow in a semi-tropical country. Coal and timber are inexhaustible. Development is just beginning. If there is such a thing as an ideal country, with its climate, its rich valleys, extensive coal and oil and gas deposits, granite quarries and timber, this is one. Wichita ought to have a road with two or three branches in that country. Take the initiative in its development, sell them supplies, buy their products. If the business men of this city would study the geographical position of this new country, of its immense undeveloped wealth and resources, and what it will be in the next twenty-five years, they would be up and doing. One-fifth of the money put into the construction company of the Orient road for preliminary survey and organization would start the ball rolling with sufficient force and velocity to insure us the road speedily.

I would ask the railroad companies to level up their tracks between the rails in front of and in immediate proximity to their respective depots, with brick, even with the top of the rails.

Advertising Wichita is a question that disturbs the tranquility of a great many of her citizens. The best advertisement possible for Wichita would be to be able to announce that she has cheap fuel. By the way, a man came to Wichita not long since and offered to deposit $500, when there is so much good advertising material lying around loose that could have occupied that space.

When out driving take a trip to the Friends university over the new pavement and then say to yourself: "I believe I am in favor of paving our streets, and join the street paving crowd. her young must die. I would not give a pair of red squirrels for all the yelping, snarling, barking whelp pounds, pugs, mongrels, poodles and bull pups in the city. I would tax dogs and cats the same as horses and cows—fixed price, $2 to $10. I would be glad to pay $10 a year if it would be a protection to the pair of squirrels that play about my premises and eat from my hands.

And now we have a regular boulevard. Seventeenth street is a beauty from the Little river to the Fairmount university, graded, and will soon be chiseled. I move that the city give the fellows with smart horses the right to speed their horses on that street.

One of our clubs, or both of them, or the city, or the real estate men, or all of these interests combined, ought to adopt a trade-mark for Wichita. Offer a prize in money for the best design and adopt the best one submitted that could be used on stationary and enlarged and used by the flour merchants, the lumber merchants, the wholesale merchants and the grain merchants, so that our city would soon become familiar throughout the country by its trademark.

Did you ever notice that when a well groomed fellow passes along the street the other fellows who pass him will pull out their cuffs, touch their neckties, knock the lint off and take a look at themselves in the plate glass windows, and brace up?

Here and there along the resident portion of the streets can still be seen an old, ramshackle fence to mar the beauty of an entire block of well kept lawns and parking.
